

Worldview: How you see and understand the worldASSIGNMENT:

You will create a visual representation of your own world view, which will be shared with others.

STEPS:

1. Consider some things that make up how you see and understand the world. Think about:

-family -languages -neighbourhood -education -significant others -nation
 -roles in family and community -the land -physical appearance -friends
 -sexual orientation -cultural traditions -ethnicity -religion
 -socio-economic status -gender -life experiences -media -geography -environment

Choose five or six (minimum) categories that you like best and brainstorm how you fit into them. How do you see the world?

2. Create a poster using two pieces of construction paper that includes headings for the categories you picked from above.
 - a. For each heading, write a sentence or two describing/explaining your thoughts/views/feelings
 - b. Find appropriate pictures, graphics, etc. that give a visual for your choices
3. In the middle of the page, create a bold title that will become your slogan/motto relating to your world view. Examples might include "Life is Good" "Moving Forward" "Me Vs. The World"
 - a. The point is to keep it positive!
4. Ensure your name appears somewhere on the front of your design

LEARNING GOAL:

Demonstrate an understanding of identity and world view by connecting my own feelings to those of the class.

SUCCESS CRITERIA:

- I will follow all steps of the assignment
- I will use a minimum of five or six world view categories to help focus my world view
- I will include images, photographs, text, etc. to cover up as much background space as possible
- I will use a minimum of two attached pieces of construction paper as my background
- I will make an interesting and creative design to show my world view
- I will create a positive motto/slogan that represents my view of the world
